

FACTS: What does First American Bank & Trust Company do with your personal information?

First American
Bank & Trust

STRONG | STABLE | HERE

Why?

Financial companies choose how they share your personal information. Federal law gives consumers the right to limit some but not all sharing. Federal law also requires us to tell you how we collect, share, and protect your personal information. Please read this notice carefully to understand what we do.

What?

The types of personal information we collect and share depend on the product or service you have with us. This information can include:

- ▀ Social Security number and income
- ▀ account balances and checking account information
- ▀ credit scores and payment history

When you are no longer a customer, we continue to share your information as described in this notice.*

How?

All financial companies need to share customer's personal information to run their everyday business. In the section below, we list the reasons financial companies can share their customer's personal information, the reasons First American Bank & Trust chooses to share, and whether you can limit this sharing.

Reasons we can share your personal information

Does First American share?

Can you limit this sharing?

For our everyday business purposes—
such as to process your transactions, maintain your account(s), respond to court orders and legal investigations, or report to credit bureaus

Yes

No

For our marketing purposes—
To offer our products and services to you

Yes

No

For joint marketing with other financial companies

No

We don't share

For our affiliates' everyday business purposes—
Information about your transactions and experiences

No

We don't share

For our affiliates' everyday business purposes—
Information about your creditworthiness

No

We don't share

For nonaffiliates to market to you

No

We don't share

Questions

Call 706.354.5000 or go to www.FirstAmericanIsHere.com

Who we are

Who is providing this notice?

First American Bank and Trust Company

What we do

How does First American protect my personal information?

To protect your personal information from unauthorized access and use, we use security measures that comply with federal law. These measures include computer safeguards and secured files and buildings.

How does First American collect my personal information?

We collect your personal information, for example, when you

-  Open an account or give us your income information
-  Apply for a loan or use your credit or debit card
-  Give us your contact information

We also collect your personal information from others, such as credit bureaus, affiliates, or other companies.

Why can't I limit all sharing

Federal law gives you the right to limit only

-  Sharing for affiliates' everyday business purposes— Information about your creditworthiness
-  Affiliates from using your information to market to you
-  Sharing for nonaffiliates to market to you

State laws and individual companies may give you additional rights to limit sharing

Definitions

Affiliates

 Companies related by common ownership or control. They can be financial and nonfinancial companies.

First American Bank & Trust Company does not share with its affiliates.

Nonaffiliates

 Companies not related by common ownership or control. They can be financial and nonfinancial companies.

First American Bank & Trust Company does not share with non-affiliates so they can market to you.

Joint marketing

 A formal agreement between nonaffiliated financial companies that together market financial products or services to you.

First American Bank & Trust Company does not jointly market.